- Wasmond Employee Tests Positive:

Last night, we received confirmation that a direct care employee at the Marklund Wasmond Center (MWC) in Elgin tested positive for COVID-19. This person was last in the building on Sunday, Nov. 15, and learned she had been exposed to someone with the virus offsite.

Administration and nursing will conduct contact tracing for staff and begin the testing process on those who fit the criteria for exposure. All residents will be tested.

I will update you as additional information becomes available.
