New Cases in Bloomingdale and Elgin

Marklund Wasmond Center (MWC), Elgin

A direct care employee tested positive Saturday via rapid test after symptom onset on Friday. This individual did work during the 48-hour infectious period so, according to updated clarification from IDPH, this is considered a facility-associated case, but not yet an outbreak, since it is a single case. MWC management completed contact tracing and implemented testing for residents and employees who were exposed.

Marklund Philip Center (MPC), Bloomingdale

An MPC resident tested positive yesterday after developing symptoms. This is considered facility-associated case but not an outbreak at this time. MPC management completed contact tracing and is testing any exposed residents and staff per exposure guidelines.
