History

In 1954, a pediatrician asked Claire Haverkamp, R.N. to provide foster care to an infant named Mark William Lund who was born with Down Syndrome and severe cardiac complications. Claire and her husband Stan started providing care to Mark five days later in their own home. As word spread, their family grew with many more foster children with special needs. These acts set the foundation for Marklund.

Since its founding, Marklund ensures that high-quality programs and services are available to children and adults with developmental disabilities. Recognizing the growing numbers of those in need of specialized services, and the availability of new technology to assist in serving this population, Marklund has continued to evolve and grow.

In November 2016, Marklund merged with Little Angels Center for Exceptional Care in Elgin. Having a history very similar to Marklund's, Little Angels was founded in 1958 when a nurse, Pat Wasmond, began providing 24-hour care to a child with profound disabilities. With the mission to love, care and support just like family, the agency grew into a skilled nursing residential and developmental training facility for children and adults with profound developmental disabilities.
